

CLASS PROPHECY

"Well, here we are at good old St. Vivian's 25th Alumni Reunion. Everybody is just coming in. Hey, who is that stepping out of the Greyhound Bus? Why, it's Joe Burgoyne and his newly-wed wife, Amy Dietz with Joe, Jr. tagging along. Look who's over in the corner. It's George Rathman, Tom Ruter, Jim Goertemoeller, Chris Berning, and Ed Zenk trying to get a game of 4 square going. Over there I see Allison Reisinger and Maria Longi, our olympic volleyball players, and Kelly Schmidt our olympic diver, and Jerry Frentsos, swimmer. They won a variety of metals, glass, tin and toilet paper in the 2000 olympics. Over by the pool I see many of my old classmates. Lisa MacDonald and Tracy Goetz are teaching Tony Perazzo how to dive, but all he seems to be doing is the cat chow. Good Luck!!! There is Bob Schnur venturing into the 3 foot depth of the pool. Well, if it isn't Ann Brown. She is our professional Avon Lady who has been ringing doorbells for 25 years and only made one sale (it's her mother). I see there are some who decided to get into the Religious life. Yes, I see Father Czulewicz, who helps people with drug problems. I also see Sister Angie Collins with Tracy Combs. Tracy hasn't stopped laughing since she found out Angie became a nun. Now what is Father Steve doing? Oh, I see, he's going to talk to Lynn Blanford because so far she smoked a 6 pack of cigarettes and a carton of beer! My, she looks very piety today.

The entertainment is about to begin. I see Mr. Tim Geoppinger, our MC, is about to announce our first entertaining pair. It's Gina Panzeca and Dave Plaatje singing "I am 39 going of 40". Now it's time for Janette Abs to sing some of her his disco sounds. Wow, that was great. And talking entertainment, I heard that Pam Kathman is a Dallas Cowboy Cheerleader. Also for entertainment we have Cathy Finn, our opera singer and her understudy, Kelly Burke. Also with them is their composer Brad Stegman.

There's Chris 'Bean' Kuhn, she's the designed of Izod LaCoste and now she's showing Katie O'Conner the new collections of Izod galoshes, sunglasses and underwear.

Over there I see Kirsten Werner, I hear she's a Playboy Bunny! I also hear that Jim Craycroft is a professional photographer for Playgirl.

"No, not really", that was Bill Ginn. So far he's asked one-half of the Class of "80" to marry him. So far everyone said no. Boy, am I hungry. I think I'll go over to the fruit bowl. Look at those bananas. Tom Suddendorf, who we all know as Uncle Ernie, invented the first automatic banana peeler! Talking about inventors, I see Ruben Castelino and his side kicks Chris Nieman and Tom Morrison. Is anyone in the market for a solar powered laser beam?

Well, there's the Pitts brothers, Donnie and Lonnie. I heard they opened a "Curly Head Salon" and Marcia Knoll was their first customer. I heard that Kim Klee is still single but I also hear that Lynn Freck is engaged to Matt Burst. Matt's best man is Chris Knapp, president of Cheezy Cheese Co. Chris is chasing Amy Horne and Jill Lennert saying, "Why don't you like me!?!?"

We do have some cripples tonight, Tina Sweeney broke her legs trying to do her "Footloose/Fancy Free Walk" and also Lisa Lengerich who has been in a wheel chair because of her stroke she had after hearing that the Bee Gee's were officially breaking up. Also we have poor Tom Partridge, who is now in Christ Hospital. Poor Tom, the doctors think he might DIE. And talking about hospitals, David Jewell is now a veterinarian. He puts animals to sleep the hard way. Then we have Viet Nguyen, he's one of our short cases. Speaking in the matter of science Mark Blessing, our astronaut, is in the midst of exploring Pluto.

Then we have our sportsmen, Chris David, our former UCLA basketball player. And we also have John Scheidler, our former Notre Dame football player. Boy what a team. Man, talking to you I've become very thirsty. I think I'll go over to Joe Treinen and Greg Souza, our wine makers. I hear Joe and Greg are using the wine that finally fermented after the 1980 Science Fair.

Then we have Bob Bolte, whom we all knew as a real swinging guy. He's the modern day casanova. To settle things down a bit I seem to see Cathy Garner and Cecilia Rose talking quietly on the couch.

We're sorry to say, but 6 people couldn't come tonight. The first was Jenny Huber. She couldn't come because her little sister got married. Then Terri Ohr couldn't come because she is in Europe running a marathon. Then there was Lisa Hudephol, (whom we are very proud of), she had a meeting with her associates about the new Hudephol Beer plant they want to build. Our fourth person is Mrs. Peg Mersch, she had a 3 hour math problem to figure out. Then for our finals Mike Gleason and Kevin Listerman. We have no idea where they are. They didn't RSVP! Sorry Fellow.

WELL HOPE TO SEE YA IN ANOTHER 25 YEARS.
